ENVOY
Maintenance Safety and Compliance

- Good day, my name is Jim Ensminger and I'm the Director of Maintenance Safety and Compliance at Envoy Air Inc., formally American Eagle. We are located at the DFW International Airport, Dallas/Ft Worth Texas.
As many of you may know by now there are more than one 'American Eagle'. With the AA/US Airways merger came several other changes, one being that many of the Region jet fleets became American Eagle brand aircraft, hence we became Envoy Air Inc.
- If anyone has a fueling problems/questions please contact me or any member of my staff at the addresses provided. I look forward to working with each and everyone of you to provide a SAFE and productive working environment.
- Thanks,

Jim E.

➤ Point of Interest, EMB 175

- AS I spoke about in our last newsletter, Envoy is soon going to add the EMB-175 to our fleet.
- We need for all aircraft fuelers to complete our new EMB 175 Training as soon as possible, MTX0407 AE Aircraft Fueling Procedures.
- The training can be found on our website. Aeme.aa.com.
- Once this training is completed by all of your fuelers we would like for you to send an email to msc.support@aa.com. Letting us know your company has completed the training so we can keep all our records up to date.
- The next pages show you where the training is located:

The screenshot shows a web browser window with the address bar containing `http://amr.edgesuite.net/8774/3592/eagle, edgesuite.net`. The browser's address bar and tabs are visible at the top. The main content area features a dark, textured background with the Envoy logo in white at the top left. In the center, the text Aircraft Fueling Procedures is written in a gold, cursive font, underlined with a blue line. Below this, the text "PRESS NEXT TO CONTINUE" is displayed in white, followed by a red button labeled "Next". A large blue arrow points to the "Next" button. In the bottom left corner, there is a red button labeled "Exit". On the right side of the screen, the number "66" is displayed in red, and the URL "www.w" is partially visible in blue. The browser's status bar at the bottom right shows a zoom level of "135%".
